EDGE URGES WORK INSTEAD OF TARIFF

Stresses Need of Buying in Order That Foreign Peoples
May Purchase Also.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, January 27.—Warning that industry should not seek a tariff protection which would serve as a wall against international trade and thereby stifle trade revival, was given last night by Senator Edge, republican, of New Jersey, in an address before the Industrial Club of Chicago. Industrial America, he said, would profit more by getting back to work than by depending on legislation to restore economic health. The New Jersey senator also attacked the Senate agricultural bloc for what he termed the failure of its members to represent the whole country and to seek general rather than class legislation. He added that it was his fear that the activity of the bloc would break down party government and leave the country in the hands of groups or blocs. In advocating the reasonable tariff Mr. Edge said it was the first time in history that this country was compelled to "give discretion" anywhere. Must Buy to Sell. "As a protectionist," the senator continued, "I still adhere to the policy of a protective tariff, but I am not one of those protectionists who believe that the old methods and policies will meet conditions which now exist. It is far different to write a tariff bill today. We are a creditor nation to the extent of fourteen or fifteen billions of dollars, as compared to the days when the balance of trade was fairly even and equal. We must recognize that trade cannot go along in one direction; that if we sell we must buy, and if they have no gold—and we do not want any more gold—we must accept imports or our export trade must perish." Mr. Edge said that in writing the tariff bill consideration must be given to reviving the American merchant marine, adding that its future was inseparably linked with the prosperity which this country and those from which it buys enjoys. He added that in his opinion the sales tax as a revenue-producing measure was gaining strength among senators. He believed, he said, that it represented the best way to insure continued prosperity, because it represented a voluntary rather than a compulsory tax, in that it was paid on voluntary purchases.

SEE LEGISLATIVE FIGHT OVER GOUCHER COLLEGE

Effort to Break Institution Away
From Methodist Church to Meet
Strong Opposition.

Special Dispatch to The Star.
BALTIMORE, Md., January 27.—The forces in favor of completing the separation of Goucher College from the Methodist Church and those who wish to tighten the bonds, so that the college will be more under the influence of the church than it has been in the past, are expected to stage a real fight before the legislature. A committee consisting of the Rev. C. W. Baldwin, who was one of the original incorporators of the college, and who is now one of its trustees; the Rev. Frank C. Porter and the Rev. John T. Ensor have been appointed to draw up a charter which will represent the Methodist point of view and which it is expected will be submitted to the legislature in opposition to the amended charter which the board of trustees has submitted. In the latter all bonds which might be regarded as justifying the belief that the college is a Methodist institution are cut. The two sides in the controversy are working along absolutely separate lines since the conference between President Guth, Bishops McDowell and Anderson and the college trustees. Those who wish to separate the college from the church are uncompromising in their stand, and the representatives of the church are equally determined to prevent the separation.

"LITTLE HSU" IS LEFT OUTLAW BY DECREE

Presidential Order Pardons His Six Companions of the Anfu Party.

PEKING, January 4. (By Mail).—Gen. Hsu-Shu-Tsung, known throughout China as "Little Hsu" is left a lonely outlaw by a recent presidential decree which pardons his six companion leaders of the Anfu party, who fled when they were ousted from power in 1920. It is considered unlikely that "Little Hsu" will be made the object of presidential clemency owing to the fact that he has been constantly intriguing against the government. Hsu and the other six leaders all held important commands in the Chinese army and took part in the activities of 1920, when the Anfu club controlled the government and was kept in power through Premier Tuan Chi-Jui. With the rise of popular sentiment against the Anfu party, owing to charges that it was pro-Japanese, it was forced out of control and its leaders, who took refuge in the Japanese legation and in the foreign settlements, were proclaimed outlaws.

RESISTS HOLD-UP MEN AND SAVES $35,000

Arthur Schaeffer, Custodian of Theater Receipts, Defeats Purpose of Four New York Bandits.

NEW YORK, January 27.—A plucky fight by Arthur Schaeffer, custodian of Shubert Theater receipts, last night routed four bandits who held him up in front of the Johnson Theater, on the south side of Central Park, and then fled, leaving $35,000 in the possession of their intended victim. Schaeffer arrived at the Johnson Theater in the "money car" with $20,000 he had collected from another Shubert house. As he left the Johnson, with $15,000 more, the four bandits, one of a quartet of men placed a gun against his ribs and demanded the money. Three others in an automobile at the curb also leveled pistols at Schaeffer, who nevertheless began to struggle with the first hold-up man. Benjamin Mallon, the Johnson manager, ran to the box office and obtained a gun, but dared not fire for fear of hitting Schaeffer, who fought with his assailant in the center of a growing crowd. The bandit broke away, jumped into the car with his companions, and they drove down Broadway to 42d street. Schaeffer and Mallon followed in a commandeered car, but the fugitives outdistanced them.

A few minutes later the police were told of the hold-up of Albert Rothfelder, a 2d avenue cigar store clerk, by a man who forced him to open his safe and hand over $31. Two victims of hold-ups died in hospitals last night. They were Max Green, wholesale tobacco jobber, who was shot by one of three youths in his store Wednesday night, and Nathan Morosky, a shoemaker proprietor, whose head was crushed by a hold-up man January 21.
